

Syllabus

[cmcd.economia@fgv.br]

Course Name: Labor Economics

Faculty:

Teaching Assistants:

2024 FIRST SEMESTER

COURSE OUTLINE

This is a graduate-level course in labor economics, exploring the underlying factors that drive labor supply and demand. Additionally, it provides a comprehensive overview of a range of labor market policies.

COURSE PROGRAM

1. Labor supply
2. Education and human capital
3. Job search
4. Labor demand

BIBLIOGRAPHY

The bibliography for this course will include a selection of classic and recent papers. During class, you will be provided with a comprehensive list of all these papers.

Textbooks

Ashenfelter, O. and Card, D., editors (2011). Handbook of Labor Economics, volumes 1, 2, 3, 4a and 4b. Elsevier, first edition.

Cahuc, P., Carcillo, S., and Zylberberg, A. (2014). Labor Economics. The MIT Press, second edition.

GRADING

Students will be assigned papers to read and present in class as part of the course requirements. The specifics of the assignment will vary depending on the number of students enrolled.

The final grade for the course will be based on two components: class participation (30%) and the presentations and discussions of the assigned papers (70%).

CONTACT